Join us to meet acclaimed authors as they discuss and sign their books. Book reviews begin with a reception in the church welcome center at 10:30 am, followed by an author talk in the chapel at 11:00 am. A book signing follows each talk.

JUNE 24

Mister Owita’s Guide to Gardening
Carol Wall

Carol Wall, of Virginia’s Shenandoah Valley, died from complications of breast cancer just nine months after Mister Owita’s Guide to Gardening, her first book, was published to critical acclaim. We are honored to have her husband, Dick Wall, share the message of her memoir — finding grace in the midst of heartbreak.

JULY 22

Something Must Be Done About Prince Edward County
Kristen Green

Kristen Green grew up in Prince Edward County, Va., the only community in the nation to close its schools for five years rather than desegregate. She began writing Something Must Be Done About Prince Edward County, her first book, after marrying a multiracial man gave the hidden history of her hometown more meaning.

AUGUST 26

Children of the Streets of Richmond, 1865-1920
Harry M. Ward

Richmond in the late 19th century was cosmopolitan, boisterous and crime-ridden. The juvenile delinquents of Richmond were held accountable in the Police Court. What emerges from the public record is an amusing and touching picture of what life was really like in the post-Reconstruction urban South. Harry M. Ward is a retired University of Richmond history professor and the author of 20 books.

Child care available for ages 4 and under.
